

COPIED DIRECTLY FROM THE
WHITE HOUSE WEBSITE ON
AUGUST 4, 2009:

There is a lot of disinformation about health insurance reform out there, spanning from control of personal finances to end of life care. These rumors often travel just below the surface via chain emails or through casual conversation. Since we can't keep track of all of them here at the White House, we're asking for your help. If you get an email or see something on the web about health insurance reform that seems fishy, send it to flag@whitehouse.gov.

The screenshot shows the White House website's blog page. At the top, it says 'THE WHITE HOUSE' and 'THE BRIEFING ROOM - THE BLOG'. The main heading is 'THE BLOG' with a 'SUBSCRIBE' button. Below that, it says 'TUESDAY, AUGUST 4TH, 2009 AT 6:55 AM' and 'Facts Are Stubborn Things' by Neven Phillips. The text of the post discusses health insurance reform and mentions a video by Linda Douglas. A video player is embedded in the post, showing a woman speaking. Below the video, there is a small red box with text: 'There is a lot of disinformation about health insurance reform out there, spanning from control of personal finances to end of life care. These rumors often travel just below the surface via chain emails or through casual conversation. Since we can't keep track of all of them here at the White House, we're asking for your help. If you get an email or see something on the web about health insurance reform that seems fishy, send it to flag@whitehouse.gov. Here are the complete videos that Linda refers to. First from the AARP'.
